

Artful Eye for an Artful Smile

Upon entering Dr. Bahar Nia's upscale office, you'll notice wall to wall luxury with every step. She personally and carefully designed every inch of this office with you in mind. Romero Britto artwork, an elegant marble reception area topped with fresh orchids and a smiling staff waiting to show you to an inviting patient receiving room. You have your choice of gourmet coffee displayed on a china platter or privately labeled mini water bottles. The soothing fragrance envelops you and transports you into a calming state of mind.

On display you see many notable local and national publications Dr. Bahar Nia has been featured in. Plus, she is an active member of many academic societies including American Academy of Cosmetic Dentistry.

As you take in all the beauty and recognitions around you, in walks the beautiful and fashionable Dr. Bahar Nia. You instantly feel her genuine warmth as she welcomes you to her home away from home and firmly shakes your hand. Her gentle yet confident disposition makes you feel at ease. It's clear to see what brings people from hours away to seek cosmetic makeovers and smile transformations.

Equipped with state-of-the-art equipment such as an in-house ceramic lab, CT scan imaging and even a photo studio with professional lighting, she spares no expense making sure her clients have the latest advancements in dental technology.

As a second-generation cosmetic dentist she prides herself that she has inherited her father's office etiquette and patient relationship skills that have built up her client base and has made her one of the most esteemed dentists in Atlanta in such a short time. Also attributing to her success is an IVY league training from the prestigious University of Pennsylvania and her extensive post-doctoral residency in sedation and cosmetic dentistry.

Her lifelong passion and love for dentistry is evident from the smallest of office luxury details to her radiant and authentic personality.

Dr. Bahar Nia is married to her fellow classmate Frank and has two precious little daughters. Always the involved mom, she is part of many school activities. She teaches her girls the importance in giving back to the community and belongs to many charitable foundations. She feels that there is no part too small when it comes to fulfilling our duties and paying it forward.

There's always something to smile about when you visit Dr. Bahar Nia and her team. They will leave you with an experience like no other and a VIP treatment second to none. ■
