

Bringing back the fountain of youth, one smile at a time

When you enter Dr. Bahar Nia's office, you'll notice wall to wall luxury with every step. She carefully has planned every inch of this office with her patients in mind. Romero Britto artwork adorns the office and gives it a joyful pop of color in a serene, sensory-filled and scenic environment that soothes your spirit with her personally designed signature custom office scent. You'd think you've been placed in an amazing art gallery instead of a dental office.

One of the most notable features are many local and national publications Dr. Bahar Nia has been highlighted in. Additionally, she is an active member of many academic societies including American Academy of Cosmetic Dentistry.

She welcomes you to the office and shakes your hand firmly and you just feel her authenticity and warmth. To top it all off, her humble yet confident demeanor is probably what brings people from hours away to seek cosmetic makeovers and smile transformations. Dr. Bahar Nia has been practicing for well over a decade. Located in the most luxurious part of Atlanta, her office has attracted national and local celebrities, athletes and patients from all walks of life. She treats everyone as her number one priority and it will be evident in your lasting first impression. Truly a relationship-based practice, she provides customized treatments to each and every patient. This is yet another award-winning ingredient in a recipe for success with skill-sets that are worthy of recognition. She has an extensive IVY league training background from the prestigious University of Pennsylvania and post-doctoral residency in sedation and cosmetic dentistry.

In each room, you will notice state-of-the-art equipment, an in-house ceramic lab, CT scan imaging and even a complete photo studio with professional lighting. You will fully comprehend why she has created so many waves in the most prominent part of Atlanta.

In such a short time she has become one of the most renowned dentists in the area. A second-generation cosmetic dentist, she prides herself that she has inherited her father's office etiquette and patient relationship skills that brings people constantly coming back.

Dr. Bahar Nia resides near her practice to be close to her patients. She is married her fellow classmate Frank and has two little girls. She is involved with her children's school and belongs to many charitable foundations to give back and fulfill her duty as a great citizen. She continues to set a great example for her girls and believes in raising them with the same work ethic and skills that will continue in generations to come.

Dr. Bahar Nia and her team will give you the VIP treatment with each and every visit. Their goal is to bring back the fountain of youth, one smile at a time. ■
