

Changing perception of dentistry one smile at a time

Walking into Dr Bahar Nia's personally designed office adorned with Romero Britto artwork, your senses are immediately captivated with gourmet coffee, relaxing scents, fresh orchid arrangements and a staff to warmly greet you. You take a seat in the patient concierge area and are mesmerized by the gorgeous marble reception area and surrounding interiors. All of these special touches, fashioned by Dr. Bahar Nia herself, from the china platter, cups, saucers and the privately labeled mini water bottles, are one of the many reasons we know she's focused on giving you more than just optimal care. She takes special attention to providing all traditionally overlooked amenities to make us feel we are in the right hands.

As a second-generation cosmetic dentist Dr. Bahar Nia prides herself that she has inherited her father's office etiquette and patients relationship skills that brings people back and has made her one of the most prominent dentists in Atlanta in such a short time.

She is an IVY league trained dentist from the prestigious University of Pennsylvania that she refers to as the best school for dental studies that is serving her well on a daily basis.

Dr. Bahar Nia has had extensive post-doctoral residency training in sedation and cosmetic dentistry. Her passion for being a dentist started at a very young age and her love and joy for her career exudes from her demeanor and conversation when she speaks. This is for sure the last piece that completes the puzzle of why people travel from other states to come and see her and seek her expertise for smile transformations and cosmetic make overs.

Dr. Bahar Nia has been featured in many local and national publications. She is an active member of many academic societies including American Academy of Cosmetic Dentistry. Her charitable contributions and philosophy of care are second to none. This experience will leave you exceptionally and pleasantly surprised.

Dr. Bahar Nia is married to her fellow classmate Frank and has two precious little daughters. She is involved with many activities in their school to continue to give back and fulfill her duty as a great citizen. ■
